“Lillian Wald, revered in her lifetime, is little known today but she was responsible for many of the social and health related programs we take for granted. . . Kaplan has meticulously researched Wald’s life and achievements and sets them carefully in context, with many references to contemporary events and people. A fascinating introduction to the ‘angel of Henry Street’ for a new generation.”

—Kirkus Reviews STARRED REVIEW

Lillian Wald: America’s Great Social and Healthcare Reformer

By Paul M. Kaplan

The greatest social reformer of her time—and a role model for today!

In this significant biography of a society-changing woman, Paul Kaplan profiles powerful activist Lillian Wald, a social and education reformer dedicated to helping less fortunate citizens in New York. A chance encounter with a nurse led her to enrolling in nursing school where she found the rules of the day meaningless and restrictive. Her rebellious nature led her to find other solutions to the ills she saw around her. Wald made it her life’s work to find solutions to the health needs of immigrants. She fought to bring health care and lunches into the schools. Groundbreaking for her time, Lillian Wald was not only a revolutionary reformer but also an advocate for women’s suffrage, racial integration, and worker’s rights. She was as a leader in a world that has now forgotten her countless contributions.

Kaplan uses archival photos and meticulous research carefully set in context to highlight her achievements along with references to contemporary events and people. He provides an extensive suggested reading list for those looking to discover this amazing woman for themselves. This biography is perfect for teens and adults looking for a strong female role model from the past who is still relevant for today.

Grits to Glory: How Southern Cookin' Got So Good

By Joe Johnston

Explore the finger-licking history of Southern food!

Travel through a folksy history of Southern cooking from the best fruitcake recipe before the Civil War to the ultimate Southern kitchen essential, the cast iron pan. Joe Johnston's cultural history brings reminiscences from his own friends and family but is not at all lacking in thoroughly-researched historical anecdotes. It is sprinkled with valuable stories and quotes from Southerners who really know their stuff! This book is for those from every Southern walk of life, but is also particularly appealing to those simply fascinated with cooking, history, and anything in between! With every detailed recollection, the heart and soul of Southern cooking shines through.

Joe Johnston • Tulsa, OK

Joe Johnston is a multi-award winning author, musician, artist, historian, advertising executive, and journalist. He is a native of Missouri and a lifelong outdoorsman. A true renaissance man, Johnston has published numerous books; holds national credits in marketing, music production, and film; and was the inventor of the now-famous McDonald's Happy Meal. In addition to his fascinatingly diverse and prolific career, he leads a full life as a father, husband, mentor, volunteer, and Native American.

Sherwood Anderson and Other Famous Creoles

Arranged by William Faulkner • Drawn by William Spratling • Edited by Thomas Bonner, Jr., and Judith H. Bonner

Newly released by the original publisher with fascinating commentary!

Get lost in the 1920s of New Orleans with caricatures of famous creative individuals who lived in the French Quarter. This curious parody of Miguel Covarrubias' The Prince of Wales and Other Famous Americans features drawings of prominent characters from famed silver designer William Spratling. It includes a forward in the style of Sherwood Anderson by the Nobel Prize-winning novelist William Faulkner who originally captioned and arranged the drawings for release. In this updated edition of the classic by the original publisher, William Faulkner and William Spratling's collaboration comes to life with additional commentary by Thomas Bonner Jr. and Judith H. Bonner.

Bluegrass, Newgrass, Old-Time, and Americana Music

By Craig Harris

“This well-researched volume reaches deep into the roots of bluegrass and follows its long journey to the modern age.”

—Pete “Dr. Banjo” Wernick, former president of the International Bluegrass Music Association and founding member of Hot Rize / Red Knuckles and the Trailblazers

Based on exclusive interviews with over ninety groundbreaking musicians, Craig Harris has crafted what feels like the first truly comprehensive history of bluegrass. His research and never-before-seen photos provide insight into the genre’s strongest influencers. Highlights include entertaining facts and anecdotes about Flatt & Scruggs, Del McCoury, Doc Watson, the Nitty Gritty Dirt Band, and more.

Craig Harris • Chicopee, MA

Craig Harris is a drummer for the Gaea Star Band with whom he co-hosts a weekly radio show. He has several published books about folk music, including The Band: Pioneers of Americana Music. He has performed and recorded with C. J. Chenier, Greg Brown, Merl Saunders, and the late Rick Danko of The Band. He taught music in public and charter schools before launching his participatory, multicultural, fun-for-all-ages Drum Away the Blues program, which promotes healthy stress relief through music.

“From old-time Appalachian mountain music, to the innovations of early bluegrass pioneers, to jazz-inflected ‘newgrass’ and beyond, Harris presents an intriguing web of stories often told by the key players themselves.”

—Scott Billington, three-time Grammy winning Roots music producer and a former vice president of Rounder Records

—Mark Rubin, founder of the Bad Livers

“It’s impossible to imagine a more comprehensive or varied cast of interviewees to catch the complex flavor of bluegrass music and its culture.”

—Ron Thomason, Dry Branch Fire Squad, Grey Fox Bluegrass Festival

The West End Treehouse Mystery

By Mark Weakland

Two boys learn to be the heroes of their own adventure.

In pursuit of “the world’s most awesome tree house,” best friends Matt and Jerry spend the summer after sixth grade hauling wood up the hillside of their Pennsylvania hometown. The boys’ freedom is tempered by trying to avoid the attention of Trio Diablo, a menacing gang of teenagers. Their summer soon changes when they venture into the hollow on the other side of the hill. The friends stumble upon a sinister witch and her raving captive—but everything is not as it seems! An unsettling discovery forces Matt and Jerry to confront serious adult issues and even real danger. The boys navigate difficult situations and learn to face fear and change in this coming-of-age tale.

The Craziest Fishing Tale on the Bayou

By Gary Alipio

“Alipio’s story truly is ‘the craziest fishing tale on the bayou’ I’ve ever heard. It has embedded how fishing can impact family relationships, the process of growing up, goal setting, and the value of persistence and hard work in the face of failure”

—Don Dubuc, Outdoors radio and TV host

Hatcher Hampton is turning twelve. Per family tradition, he’ll be entering his first fishing rodeo, hoping to prove he’s better than his older brother. First prize wins $500—money that could save his family from eviction. Reality soon intervenes in Hatcher’s heroic fantasy as he faces a one-armed man, boat blunders, and an old swamp legend. Getting stuck in a mosquito-infested swamp with Grampa Grump and no extra underwear isn’t what he had in mind!

Gary Alipio • Metairie, LA

Gary Alipio was raised in a city where the locals were bursting with tall tales about ghosts, ghouls and things that go bump in the night. Today, he draws inspiration from those hair-raising, humid evenings and still lives never too far from that same city. With a knack for humor and heart, Alipio likes to blur the lines between the scary and the silly. The former advertising writer drafted his first screenplay at twelve, and since that time continues his craft with the same youthful passion.

Ride, Patriot Guard, Ride!

By Connie Heckert

“Standing For Those Who Stood For US”

Historian Connie Heckert introduces middle readers to the Patriot Guard in this pictorial history of their mission. The national organization, whose members number more than 23,000 strong, was originally organized by motorcycle-riding men and women to shield families from protestors at military funerals. Now Patriot Guard riders can be found everywhere from official services to parades. This comprehensive portrait showcases the many good deeds Patriot Guard volunteers do to support military personnel, first responders, and their families. Photos taken by the author and those from other riders provide a moving transcript of the works of this dedicated and loyal group.

Paulina and the Pirate's Hat

Written and illustrated by Eric Ode

Whales and walrus! That's not a pirate's hat!

One day Paulina, engrossed in a book about the many types of hats, wanders onto a pirate ship. Aboard the galleon, she accidentally sits on the captain's headdress. When the captain reaches for his now squashed topper, Paulina, newly knowledgeable about hats, sees that his headgear isn't the right fit for a pirate ship's captain! She leads the crew on a madcap chase around the globe from Borka Borka Island to Polly Golly Canyon to find just the right accessory for him.

This uplifting, silly story is satisfying for any child from the swashbuckling to the scholarly and perfect for any parent who wants a phenomenal tale on the power of knowledge that can be found in books.

Eric Ode • Bonney Lake, WA

Monster Cake

By Laurie Lazzaro Knowlton • Illustrations by Chase Jensen

Monsters, fractions, and cake, oh my!

Mariah's baking a cake for some monsters, and the measurements are all messed up. Who knew that 2 half cups equal 1 whole cup! Mariah is so confused by the fractions and times! Does 30 minutes really equal one-half of an hour? Brennan tries to help her figure it all out, but the monsters will be coming over soon! Quick, bake that cake! When the cake is finished, smelling perfectly boggish, just like Mariah wanted the surprise guests arrive. This delightfully silly story teaches children fractions in a fun, exciting way, all while showing the special power of friendship. A sweet tasting activity is included at the end of the story so all little 'monsters' can bake along!

Learn colors and numbers with a Lone Star twist!

From one black horse to ten purple pinwheels, this lively board book takes children on a colorful journey through Texas! Everything from four espátulas ("spoonbills") to five botas ("boots") to six garza ("egrets") come to life in vivid photographs of Lone Star backyards and open fields. This bilingual picture book will spark the imagination and creativity in every child—Texan or not! Children will enjoy the educational nature of this book, counting from place to place and picking up a few Spanish words along the way! An enjoyable and relatable counting adventure, the beautiful photographs make learning colors and numbers in two languages as easy as uno, dos, tres!

Jackson Sundown: Native American Bronco Buster

By Doris Fisher • Illustrations by Sarah Cotton

"Cotton's colorful and lively illustrations capture the spirit of the rodeo." —Kirkus Reviews

"A wonderful addition to a picture book collection."

—School Library Connection Recommended

When the U.S. Army Cavalry attacked the Nez Perce tribe, Jackson Sundown's trick riding allowed him to escape. For years afterwards he lived a quiet life, until at the age of 49 he entered his first rodeo. His performance was captivating and the crowds loved him! Sundown dreamed of winning first place at a bronc championship—a feat never accomplished by a Native American. Will he win? Find out in this thrilling biography for young readers. Follow Jackson Sundown on his journey from trick-riding at rodeos to the National Cowboy Hall of Fame. His courageous story, told in vibrant illustrations, will inspire children to overcome obstacles on the way to their dream!

Mademoiselle Grands Doigts

By Johnette Downing • Illustrations by Heather Stanley

“A welcome respite from the flood of Santa Claus and snow-fairy books crowding the holiday shelves.” —Kirkus

Once upon a time on New Year’s Eve night, hundreds of suitors lined up to kiss the graceful hands of Mademoiselle Grands Doigts. Jealous of the lovely maiden, the other girls cast a terrible gris gris turning her into a creature with long gnarled fingers and warts. Ashamed, she vanished, never to be seen again. The resentful girls turned as green as their hearts and fled to the swamp. Now, every New Year’s Eve, Mademoiselle Grands Doigts finds nice children and fills their shoes with treats proving pretty is as pretty does. Johnette Downing deftly weaves this slightly scary Cajun morality tale accompanied by the moody colors of Heather Stanley’s luscious illustrations.

Johnette Downing • New Orleans, LA

Johnette Downing is an internationally known singer/songwriter. She has twice represented the state of Louisiana at the National Book Festival’s Children’s Tent and is the recipient of the 2017 Louisiana Writer of the Year Award.

The Cajun Fisherman and His Wife

By Connie Collins Morgan • Illustrations by Herb Leonhard

“A rollicking rendition, particularly well-suited to reading aloud.”

—Kirkus

In this Cajun take on a Brothers Grimm classic, bayou fisherman Paul catches a talking fish who promises to grant him a wish if he lets her go. As proof, the supernatural sac-à-lait piles crawfish into his boat. Paul returns home with his reward but it seems his wife is just not satisfied! She dreams up progressively outlandish demands for the magical fish. Eventually she learns that wishing won’t make her happy. In this third collaboration between author Connie Collins Morgan and illustrator Herb Leonhard, the wonderfully woven tale is brought to life in expressive images with a Louisiana flair. Readers of all ages will delight in this soon-to-be classic Cajun tale!

Connie Collins Morgan • Middletown, MD

Morgan grew up minutes away from the bayous of Lafayette Parish. She holds a BA in elementary education from the University of Southwestern Louisiana and an MFA in children’s literature from Hollins University.

Herb Leonhard • Prosser, WA

My Grandmother Lives in a Shotgun House

By Daisy R. Harrison • Illustrations by Emile Henriquez

Through New Orleans to Grandmother's house . . .

Through charming rhymes, craftsman-like images, and a sweet feeling of nostalgia, the lyrical narrative paints a beautiful picture of New Orleans' families and architecture. A young boy recounts his adventures at his grandmother's house and the enchanting things in her home—from the old portraits on the wall to the tall ceilings. He leads readers through the old shotgun house and relishes everything he sees, coloring every aspect of his surroundings with love and curiosity. Children will discover the beauty in family history, comfort, and the meaning of things old while every generation will relive the joy and wonder that he feels discovering it all for the first time!

Daisy R. Harrison • River Ridge, LA

Daisy Rene Harrison teaches middle school students how to fall in love with reading and writing. When she is not teaching, she enjoys writing and spending time with her husband and two sons in her New Orleans home.

Emile Henriquez • Slidell, LA

Dinomorphosis

By Paul Many • Illustrations by Stan Jaskiel

When a scary situation causes a dinosaur-sized transformation, how will he adapt?

When Gregory wakes up in the body of a dinosaur on the morning of his class presentation, he's worried. As soon as he gets out of bed, everything starts to go wrong. He spills the orange juice, forgets his diorama, and can only speak in roar. What is he going to do when his favorite teacher, Mrs. Anning, calls on him to present his project? Gregory practiced all week but he didn't plan for this!

In this loose adaptation of the literary classic by Franz Kafka author Paul Many encourages children not to give up when change makes things scary. Stan Jaskiel's humorous illustrations show Gregory adapting to his startling new reality and, once he has, everything changes!

Paul Many • Ottawa Hills, OH

After receiving his PhD, Paul Many taught journalism at the University of Toledo for thirty-three years. He is the author of publications in literary journals as well as three well-received YA novels and two picture books.

Stan Jaskiel • Salem, MA

People are talking about our books!

Lillian Wald

“Kaplan has meticulously researched Wald’s life and achievements and sets them carefully in context, with many references to contemporary events and people. . . . A fascinating introduction to the ‘angel of Henry Street’ for a new generation.”

—KIRKUS STARRED REVIEW

A Parent’s Choice Silver Honor
Winner for Spring 2017
Children’s Non-fiction

Make a Change

“Nicol’s illustrations, with deep, rich colors, capture well the determination of the black citizens and the stress that comes with breaking through racial barriers. A fine picture book to sit on the shelf alongside Ruby Bridges’ Through My Eyes.”

—KIRKUS

Nominated for the 2018
American Indian Youth
Literature Awards in the middle grade category

Bluegrass, Newgrass, Old-Time, and Americana Music

“This well-researched volume reaches deep into the roots of bluegrass and follows its long journey to the modern age.”

—Pete “Dr. Banjo” Wernick, former president of the International Bluegrass Music Association and founding member of Hot Rize/Red Knuckles and the Trailblazers

“Harris presents an intriguing web of stories often told by the key players themselves.”

—Scott Billington, three-time Grammy-winning roots music producer and a former vice president of Rounder Records

“A great introduction to one of America’s greatest cultural legacies.”

—Mark Rubin, founder of the Bad Livers

Winner of a 2015 Society of Children’s Book Writers and Illustrators Crystal Kite Award

Sioux Code Talkers

“Engaging from start to finish, with a well-written text that is enhanced by period photographs and reproductions of significant documents.”

—School Library Journal

Jackson Sundown: Native American Bronco Buster

“Cotton’s colorful and lively illustrations capture the spirit of the rodeo.”
